FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

XILINX APPOINTS EXCELPOINT TECHNOLOGY TO EXPAND DISTRIBUTION COVERAGE IN MAINLAND CHINA, HONG KONG AND TAIWAN

Singapore, April 2, 2007 — Xilinx, Inc. (NASDAQ: XLNX), the world's leading programmable logic supplier, and Excelpoint Technology Ltd (SGX:Excelpoint), a leading demand creation distributor of advanced technology active components and total solutions provider, today announced their distributor agreement which includes distribution rights in mainland China, Hong Kong and Taiwan. This agreement is effective immediately and involves the dissemination of all Xilinx field-programmable gate arrays (FPGAs), complex programmable logic devices (CPLDs), development software and intellectual property cores.

“We are seeing an increasing demand for our programmable logic solutions in the electronic design community across mainland China, Hong Kong and Taiwan, thus we need another strong distributor to increase our coverage and serve the needs of our growing customer base,” said Yang Chiah Yee, VP of Sales, Xilinx Asia Pacific. “We chose Excelpoint because of their successful 20-year demand creation record in the Greater China region, excellent coverage across 13 cities in these countries, and a strong management team willing to invest in local design resources to help customers use Xilinx's industry-leading programmable solutions in their electronic designs.”

Albert Phuay, Chairman and Group CEO of Excelpoint, adds, “We are excited to have the opportunity to work with Xilinx as they are the market leader in the programmable logic devices (PLD) market. Excelpoint is committed to investing in a team of technical resources including setting up a technical support centre in Shanghai to create and develop new opportunities and emerging applications based on industry-leading Xilinx products. This is a strong endorsement for our company as a value-added distributor in the Asia region that has strong research and development capabilities and technical expertise to support customers with major principal product lines.”
